Ad copy set: Fernhollow 20V cordless hedge trimmer

Work sample by AUTOMAIT. Fictional brief and brand; no client. AI-assisted; checked against the brief before delivery.

Brief / what the client asked: "Six short ads for our new cordless hedge trimmer, for Google Search and Meta, in English and Spanish."

Fictional brand and product. Specs below are placeholders the client confirms before anything runs (marked `[verify]`). Spelling: Australian English; switched to the client's market on request.

Format per ad: Google responsive search ad (3 headlines, 30 characters or fewer; 1 description, 90 or fewer) and a Meta primary text (first 125 characters hold the point, since that is all Meta shows before "See more") with a headline of 40 or fewer. Each ad is labelled with its angle and hook so the client can test one variable at a time.

Spec card `[verify]`: 20V battery, 45 cm blade, 2.6 kg, about 45 minutes per charge, 2-year warranty, battery shared with the Fernhollow blower and line trimmer.

Ad 1 · angle: light and one-handed · hook: a moment, not a feature

Google RSA - H1: 2.6 kg Cordless Hedge Trimmer - H2: Light Enough for One Hand - H3: 45 cm Blade, No Cord - D1: Fernhollow 20V: 2.6 kg, 45 cm blade, about 45 minutes a charge. 2-year warranty.

Meta primary text The hedge takes 20 minutes. Finding the extension lead used to take 10. Fernhollow 20V is 2.6 kg and cordless, so you just pick it up and start. - Headline: Pick it up. Start trimming.

Ad 2 · angle: villain the old way (the extension lead) · hook: "stop... until"

Google RSA - H1: Hedge Trimmer, No Power Lead - H2: Cordless 20V Hedge Trimmer - H3: Reach the Back Fence Freely - D1: No lead to unroll, snag or cut through. 45 cm blade, 2.6 kg, 2-year warranty.

Meta primary text Stop trimming with one eye on the cable. Fernhollow 20V runs about 45 minutes a charge, reaches the back fence, and there is nothing behind you to cut. - Headline: Nothing behind you to cut

Ad 3 · angle: sell the upgrade (one battery, whole range) · hook: "did you know"

Google RSA - H1: One Battery, Three Tools - H2: Fernhollow 20V Hedge Trimmer - H3: Swap the Tool, Keep the Charge - D1: One 20V battery runs the Fernhollow trimmer, blower and line trimmer. Buy one, charge one.

Meta primary text Did you know one Fernhollow battery runs the hedge trimmer, the blower and the line trimmer? One charger on the shelf, not three. Trimmer from $[price]. - Headline: One battery. Three jobs.

Ad 4 · angle: a specific number (runtime) · hook: the number first

Google RSA - H1: 45 Minutes Per Charge - H2: Cordless Hedge Trimmer 20V - H3: 45 cm Blade, 2.6 kg - D1: About 45 minutes of trimming per charge, enough for most suburban hedges in one go.

Meta primary text 45 minutes a charge. For most front hedges that is the whole job and a bit left over. Fernhollow 20V, 45 cm blade, 2.6 kg, 2-year warranty. - Headline: 45 minutes. Most hedges, done.

Ad 5 · angle: a gift (sell the person paying) · hook: third-person call-out

Google RSA - H1: A Gift for the Garden Person - H2: Cordless Trimmer, Gift Ready - H3: 2-Year Warranty Included - D1: For the one who actually does the hedge. 2.6 kg, cordless, 45 cm blade, 2-year warranty.

Meta primary text For the person who does the hedge every spring and never mentions it. Fernhollow 20V: cordless, 2.6 kg, 2-year warranty. Easier than guessing a shirt size. - Headline: For the one who does the hedge

Ad 6 · angle: compare to the dumber category (petrol) · hook: three plain negatives

Google RSA - H1: No Petrol. No Pull-Cord. - H2: Battery Hedge Trimmer 20V - H3: Press the Trigger and Go - D1: No fuel to mix, no cord to pull, no fumes at head height. 45 cm blade, 2.6 kg, cordless.

Meta primary text No petrol to mix. No pull-cord. No fumes drifting past your face. Fernhollow 20V starts with a trigger and runs about 45 minutes a charge. - Headline: Trigger, not pull-cord

Spanish version · translation sample (AI-assisted; not yet reviewed by a native speaker)

Neutral Spanish, usable in Spain and Latin America. This sample was produced AI-assisted and checked for register and number format; a native-speaker review is quoted as a separate line item for any live campaign. The client picks regional spelling (for example "coste" vs "costo") before launch. Character limits re-checked in Spanish, because the same line usually runs 15 to 25 per cent longer.

Notes for the client

- "$[price]" and every spec are placeholders. If a claim is not true on launch day it comes out; in Australia that is a consumer law point, not a style one.
- Headlines are written to be mixed by Google, so none depends on another.
- Meta ads speak in the third person about the buyer ("for the person who...") rather than guessing who the reader is.
- The Spanish is produced AI-assisted and reviewed for register, number formatting (2,6 kg) and regional words. For a national campaign we recommend a native-speaker review of the final set; we arrange it and quote it as a separate line.
